Wetzlar, 26 November 2026 – In collaboration with the English camera bag manufacturer Billingham, Leica is presenting two new models: a compact bag for the Leica M and Leica Q, as well as a bigger version for the Leica SL. Each features an interior layout tailored to the equipment it is designed to accommodate. Cleverly designed details make photography routines and travel easier.

Both bags have room for a camera with an attached lens, as well as an additional lens.
Card pockets for SD cards and CFexpress cards, as well as an interior mesh pocket, offer additional storage space for accessories. Customised dividers keep equipment neatly organised and easily accessible. A strap on the exterior allows the bag to be securely fastened to a luggage trolley. The bags are made in the UK. The combination of Billingham FibreNyte – a specially developed waterproof synthetic material – and fine leather protect the equipment and lend the bag an elegant look.

The new Billingham bags are available in the colour variants black, sage/black and khaki/chocolate.
